

speaker thought well within the range of the munificence, he might add the proverbial munificence, and display of public interest and of public spirit. Having touched on the form of memorial that had appeared not to himself alone, but to many other residents, as the most fitting and the most appropriate, he would take the opportunity to offer a suggestion or two of his own with reference to the form of memorial, which he thought they should avoid. They were met there to do honour to one who was perhaps one of the most popular Governors Hongkong has ever had, popular not alone as a public man but for his personal qualities as a private individual. If he interpreted correctly the sentiments and feelings which animated the meeting he should say it would be strange that the well-regarded and venerable Sir Arthur Kennedy and lamented Governor should become as familiar to succeeding generations of colonists as they were to themselves, and that whatever might be the ultimate character of the memorial to be decided on by this meeting, the main object should not be lost sight of, namely, their personal testimony to the private qualities of the man, no less than the public abilities of the Governor (apause). If he had interpreted their sentiments correctly, then he thought they should not embark in a Kennedy Institute, Charity, Endowment, or Kennedy Schools—all admirable no doubt in their utilitarian object—if they embarked in these what would happen a century hence, or, say, a century and a quarter hence? Society for the relief of the poor, and changing, it being like a dissolving view, old faces disappearing every year to be succeeded by new ones, and a quarter of a century hence your Kennedy endowment would be there, but the memory of the man whom they specially designed to honour by such means would have faded in the haze and mist of years, and but few persons—beyond an occasional student of local history would know, how or why their memorial came by the name of Kennedy. He would point his meaning by illustrating that they now had in the middle of our city a large pile of buildings called the Murray Barracks. They are not a thing of beauty, perhaps, but they are pretentious by reason of their size and architectural pretensions. Not far from them we have Murray Barracks and Murray Pier, and there is also a Murray Battery. It would surprise some of them to learn that all these structures were so called in order to do honour to the name and to perpetuate the memory of one who was much revered and esteemed by the generation who preceded us. He would ask how many of them, in spite of the hopes and aspirations of those who preceded them, knew who Murray was, and notwithstanding all the structures bearing his name which confront us as daily reminders of that name. He thought it would be the natural feeling of the meeting that the honoured name of Kennedy should not be so lightly and carelessly precious to us; and therefore he concluded the preference was not to be that the memorial to be adopted should take the form of a statue, because a public statue of Sir Arthur Kennedy would never lose its individuality. Public statues were said to be the most lasting form of recognition that a generous people can make to those public men who have served them well and faithfully. He ventured to think therefore in their own case pre-eminently—he said pre-eminently, because, as he remarked before, society here was ever changing like a dissolving view—in the present case, a statue would be the most proper and most imperishable form of tribute to the man who had paid his life whose death they so deeply mourned, and whose memory they were desirous to hand down to posterity as that of a man who was able to win their affections by his private and personal merits, and to command their respect by the even manner in which he held the balance between the mixed races over whom he had been set by his Sovereign to govern, a man whose sole aspiration, while he was with them, was the welfare and material prosperity of the races committed to his care without distinction of class or nationality.—(applause).

—Mr. A. P. MacEwan said he had been asked to propose a resolution, and in doing so to make a few remarks. The remarks of previous speakers, however, had been so appropriate and full as touching on the successful career of the late Sir Arthur Kennedy as Governor of this colony, that he would not make any repetition here, but he would follow over the same ground, and say that they had touched chiefly on what may be considered the sober and political side of his character, and he could not help thinking that the lighter shades had a great deal to do in endearing his memory to many old colonists. Perhaps he might be permitted to allude to these, as it was more in connection with them that in those days he personally knew him. He alluded to the interest he always took in all their pleasures and pastimes. It was he thought, hardly necessary for him to remind those present who were resident in this colony during 1887 and 1890 of the encouragement and the example Sir Arthur Kennedy always gave to every exercise that was manly and healthy, and every pleasure that was innocent. He referred to their sports, cricket matches, regattas, races, and all social gatherings or public entertainments that tended to bring the public together in peace and harmony. These may be considered by some as minor points in a Governor's career, but he could confidently affirm that in Sir Arthur Kennedy's case they, in connection with his straightforward and upright character and administrative abilities, tended to make him what he undoubtedly was, one of the most popular Kennedy always gave to every Governor that ever hailed from the Colonial Office (applause). Even after he left them he took, and never ceased to take, the keenest interest in the colony itself and his old friends. He thought we could not do better than perpetuate his memory by erecting a public statue in some prominent position in this colony—he would suggest Kennedy Road—and he felt certain that should his resolution be carried, every firm, public company, and private resident will come forward as liberal aid to assist the committee that would be formed in erecting a statue that would not only be a lasting and a fitting memorial, but a lasting remembrance of a true, just, and upright man. (Applause.) The resolution he would propose was—

That this meeting bestows a fitting and grateful tribute to the memory of Sir Arthur Kennedy, late Governor of this colony, and that the most appropriate way of effecting this object will be that the committee be appointed to consider the most appropriate position in the colony, and accordingly resolve on this form of memorial.

The Hon. P. Ryrie said that it was with very much pleasure he rose to second the motion of the Hon. Mr. MacEwan. He had heard a great many people speak in favour of the form the memorial to the late Sir Arthur Kennedy should take, and he was of opinion that, of them all, that which embodied in the resolution is the most appropriate, and he was glad it had fallen to his lot to second the proposal for the statue. He was here during the whole of Sir Arthur Kennedy's administration. He well remembered the day he landed and the day he embarked, and he could bear testimony to his uprightness of character and to his desire neither to oppress one race nor the other. In his Council, of which he was a member during the whole of his administration, he was a man of perfect integrity to his members, and in his conduct of the public business. The advance this colony has made in education since the commencement of his career here was owing to him.—(applause). He attended, in this hall and presided at this table in the very chair then occupied by the Chairman of the meeting, at a meeting held for the purpose of promoting education. He was the proposer of the "Grant-

"aid" system. He was also most anxious that the School should be adequately supported, and the speaker might say that he himself had the support of the then able Head Master, whom they all knew very well and who was now transferred to another sphere. (applause.) To Sir Arthur Kennedy they also owed the lighthouses, that is, in a secondary degree. The proposal first came from Admiral Shadwell at a dinner in this Hall. On its being mentioned to Sir Arthur Kennedy he at once took it up, and in a very short time they had the Lighthouses. In all public matters Sir Arthur Kennedy always warmly supported those which he considered advisable and useful, and he cordially supported the object of the meeting and seconded the resolution of the meeting.

Mr. Jackson then rose and said he had very great pleasure in supporting the resolution. He had had the honor of the intimate acquaintance of Sir Arthur Kennedy, and he cordially echoed the sentiments which had been expressed by the previous speakers. A more honourable, more upright, more truthful, or more thoroughly respected representative of Her Majesty never came from the Colonial Office. Whether they took him in his private capacity presiding at his table in Government House, or in his public capacity in the Council Chamber or elsewhere, they found him the same upright, courteous gentleman. They had met with his memoir perpetuated in perpetual bronze. I would think it a great pity if the grand old features [pointing to the oil painting of Sir Arthur] in this hall should ever be forgotten in Hongkong. (Applause.) He hoped Her Majesty's Government would be fortunate in sending many such Governors to Hongkong, and he could only say the inhabitants of the colony would be delighted.—(applause.)

Mr. C. P. Chater rising amidst applause said he had much pleasure in supporting the resolution—brought forward by Mr. MacEwen—and seconded by Mr. Ryrie. He said he thought that of all the different views that had been thrown out with regard to perpetuating the memory of their late lamented Governor the one before the meeting was the best of all, and he therefore had very great pleasure in supporting the resolution.—(applause.)

Mr. H. N. Mody said he could not allow this opportunity to pass without expressing, on behalf of the Parsee and Indian communities of Hongkong, their hearty and cordial cooperation in support of the proposition made by Mr. MacEwen, and endorsing the sentiments already expressed by the previous speakers in honour of their late good Governor, Sir Arthur Kennedy.—(applause.)

The Chairman then read the resolution and said they would observe that this was a proposal submitted to the meeting, and it was quite open to any one present to offer an amendment to the resolution if he was of opinion that although a memorial to Sir Arthur Kennedy's memory was desirable yet it should take some other form. If any member or members were desirous of proposing such an amendment he should be glad to receive it; and the meeting, he was sure, would be willing to listen to anything that might be said on the subject.

No amendment being offered, the resolution was put to the meeting and was carried unanimously amid great applause.

The Chairman said that, consequent upon the passing of the resolution, Mr. W. H. Forbes would now propose a resolution for the purpose of carrying it into effect.

Mr. W. H. Forbes then rose and said he had very great pleasure in proposing the following resolution:

That for the purpose of giving effect to the manifest wish of this meeting, thorough representation in its character as Executive Committee be appointed to undertake the management of the business connected with the erection of the proposed Memorial Statue. This Executive Committee to consist of Messrs. H. J. Price, and Messrs. P. D. Sassoon, W. Reimers, T. Johnston, J. B. Williams, G. A. Romanos, J. S. Cox, H. N. Mody, Dr. Ho Kai Wai Ayau, and Loong Yui, with power to add to their number.

Mr. F. D. Sassoon seconded.

Mr. MacEwen proposed that Mr. Forbes's name be added to the list of the Committee.

This was accordingly done and the resolution thus amended was upon being put to the meeting, carried unanimously.

The Chairman in calling attention to the next resolution said it was one that he felt certain would command sympathy. His Honour Mr. Justice Russell would propose a resolution which would, he thought, commend itself to all.

Mr. Justice Russell said he thought as there was still a good deal of business to be brought before the meeting he had better make his remarks short and he thought the resolution he would then read would commend itself to every one present. The resolution was:—

That this meeting records the deep sense of sorrow with which it has received the intelligence of the death of Sir Arthur Kennedy's death and desires to express the heartfelt sympathy and condolences of all creeds and classes with the members of the Chinese community, and to request further that the Chairman be requested to take the necessary steps for forwarding to them a copy of this resolution.

The speaker then added that Dr. Ho Kai in this speech had admirably expressed the feeling the speaker knew existed among the Chinese community—it was only one feeling—and it was, he thought, no expression of one of heartfelt sorrow.

He therefore proposed this resolution:

Mr. H. L. Dalrymple seconded the resolution. He said he had the pleasure of knowing the late Governor for several years, and the resolution possessed his cordial sympathy.

Mr. P. Ryrie suggested the addition of the words "and a full report of the proceedings of this meeting" which was adopted, and the resolution put to the meeting and carried unanimously.

The Chairman concluding said that in so far as the proceedings were concerned, the business of the meeting was completed, but he understood that what he believed to be the desire of Mr. Ho Kai, on behalf of the Chinese community, was to say a few words with regard to some matter he had to make on behalf of the Chinese community in respect of a memorial to the late Sir Richard McDonnell. It was no part of the job for which this meeting had been called, but he was quite sure they would listen to him with attention.—(applause.)

Mr. Ho Kai on resuming the floor said he wished on behalf of the Chinese community in this colony to address a few words on a subject which interested them all, as Chinese, a large amount of interest and respect to place very near their hearts. About twenty years ago, shortly after the death of Sir Richard McDonnell, it was the intention of the Chinese to erect a monument to this memory, but this was not done on account of circumstances which he would to a certain extent explain. No favourable opportunity occurred on which the Chinese could communicate the matter to the rest of the community or consult them as to what sort of a memorial should be erected. Now, the Chinese were anxious to do all due honor to the memory of Sir Arthur Kennedy, their long cherished Governor, and perpetuate the memory of Sir Richard McDonnell, whose services are fresh, and they wished to take this opportunity to consult the foreign community on the subject, and to ask for their co-operation and advice. It is more than ten years since Sir Richard McDonnell was with us, and that he is so well remembered by the Chinese community, and he believed by the foreign community as well, testified to the good and favorable impression he made here. His valuable services will be known to all. He sought to do justice to all classes of His Majesty's subjects without distinction of race, color, and language, and he died leaving behind him a noble example and light for the good of those whom he befitted. He said these things were, so well known, that he need not mention them, because they were well appreciated at the time and were well remembered even up to this present day.

He hoped his mentioning this, that day, would meet with the support of all the foreign community; amongst the Chinese there was one unanimous sentiment, and that was, that whatever might be done, a memorial to Sir Richard McDonnell will be raised; and they wish for your support and co-operation. He was sure they would express to some extent their opinion on this matter, and that the Chinese would know that while they were doing honour to one Governor they would be permitted and would be aided by them to do honour to another. Governor who was the predecessor of Sir Arthur Kennedy.—(applause).

The Hon. F. B. Johnson in following up the last speaker's remarks, said he had only heard that morning of the movement among their Chinese friends of which Mr. Ho Kai had informed them, but as one who was privileged to enjoy the friendship of the late Sir Richard McDonnell he thought he might venture to say the statement made had been heard with great satisfaction by him, and the manner in which it had been received showed the meeting shared this satisfaction—and rightly so, because all knew the eminent services Sir Richard McDonnell rendered to the colony, and it also marked the intelligent appreciation with which the Chinese community recognised good government. He had spoken just then of the success of Sir Arthur Kennedy's administration, but he was sure all those who had any experience of the state of this colony in the times preceding the administration of Sir Arthur Kennedy would recognise how much the Government of Sir Arthur Kennedy was indebted to the vigorous administration by which it was preceded. He ventured to make these few remarks, but at the same time he would suggest to Mr. Ho Kai that it would be perhaps, not very convenient to mix up the two things together, and if the Chinese were resolved, as he informs us they were, to erect some memorial to Sir Richard McDonnell, another opportunity should be taken to give effect to what they proposed.—(applause).

The Chairman said Mr. Ho Kai's remarks formed no part of the object of the meeting; and, as Mr. Johnson suggested, he thought it advisable the subject should be taken up as an entirely separate matter. Separate it was, so far as this was concerned, that there should be a separate committee formed,—that a meeting of the intending subscribers should elect for themselves what form the memorial should take; and if it was thought advisable the two committees the committee formed that day and the one formed at any subsequent meeting might co-operate in collecting subscriptions from our Chinese fellow citizens. That was a matter which it seemed to him the committee they then had elected would take into its consideration. Unless any gentleman might wish to make any remarks on the subject of Mr. Ho Kai's speech he thought it would be advisable now to close the meeting, reserving any question as to a memorial to Sir Richard McDonnell. He might say, although he had not had the pleasure of Sir Richard McDonnell's acquaintance, so far as he knew, and so far as he could gather from the report he has left behind him, Sir Richard McDonnell was a man of sterling ability, and sound sense, and an honourable Governor.—(applause).

The meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the chairman, proposed by Mr. Bottomley and seconded by Mr. Ruttorffe, which was acknowledged in suitable terms by Sir George Phillipps.

HEAD OFFICE.
SANDAKAN, NORTH BORNEO.

THIS Company is formed to meet the requirements of the merchants, traders and planters of Sandakan Bay and the East Coast of North Borneo, and to facilitate the rapidly increasing trade and passenger traffic of the Bay and neighbouring Seas by running suitable Steamers, from port to port, amongst the various islands, rivers, and out-stations, and thus concentrating the trade in the larger ports of the Territory, where facilities are offered for direct transhipment into Steamers running to Singapore, Hongkong, the Coast of China, Australia, etc., etc. It is thought that, in carrying out, on a properly organized system, the objects for which the Company has been formed, a legitimate and profitable outlet for capital is presented.

The system will include the maintenance of communication—by—Steam—Launches—between—Elopora and the plantations now being commenced up the rivers within the Bay of Sandakan, and the opening up, generally, of the trade with the Kina Baluan, Labuan, Sugut, and other rivers and stations in North Borneo.

A concession of foreshore land to the extent of four acres has been provisionally secured for a nominal payment, at twelve places on the Coast where it is anticipated trade is capable of development. These concessions, besides affording sites for the Company's wharves, godowns and offices, will, no doubt, as the country advances, form the centres of future settlements or townships, and thus constitute hereafter a distinct and special feature in the assets of the Company.

Upon the assumption that the Company may wish eventually to have independent accommodation at their head-quarters, the refusal on favourable terms, of desirable premises at Elopora has also been secured.

It is intended to procure, as soon as possible, two capacious Siam Launches to run to the various plantations within the Bay itself, and also two suitable lighters; while for calling at the more distant places a steamer of about 300 tons capacity will be all that is necessary to meet the first requirements, in connection with which an agreement—conditional upon the formation of the Company—has been entered into for the purchase of the Steamer „ROYALIST,” with the full benefit of all the contracts, engagements and privileges which she has with the Government, and Chinese Merchants.

The cost of these vessels, together with the erection of suitable godowns, wharves and other accommodation will, it is calculated, absorb about $60,000 of the paid-up capital.

For working capital, the Directors will be left with $40,000 in hand, to increase which, further calls can be made, should the Company's business expand and extension of its operations and additions to its fleet and establishments be in consequence thought desirable.

Meetings of Shareholders will be held annually, and at these the Directors' Reports and Accounts will be presented. In this respect and in all the other essential particulars the constitution of the Company will be in conformity with the rules in force for English Joint Stock Companies.

It is needless to say that no promotion money has been or will be paid. The Directors put forward their scheme in the interests of the East Coast and of the Territory generally, with a considerable proportion of the capital already subscribed by the local community, and with the promise of their further co-operation, and they trust that their undertaking will meet with the approval and support of all those who are concerned in upholding the trade and welfare of North Borneo.

Copies of the Memorandum and Articles of Association, particulars of the land concessions and copy of the agreement with Mr. Cowie for the purchase of the „ROYALIST,” can be seen at the Company's office.

Applications for Shares should be made on the accompanying form and addressed to the Secretaries or to the Company's Agents, from whom, or from any of the Directors, further information can be obtained. List will close in Hongkong on 31st June.
